Information about Tuition Fees at Uppsala University

Tuition fee and other costs
As a student you are liable to pay for all courses in which you have been registered (re-registrations are free). The tuition fee imposed on you as a programme student covers studies amounting to 30 credits per semester. The fee does not cover other costs related to admission or studies at Uppsala University, such as accommodation or study materials. If you want to read extra courses outside the programme you have to pay for these. If you fail a course you are registered on, you will not be reimbursed or able to use the fee for another course.

Study plan
Every master programme has a study plan. As a fee paying student at Uppsala University you have to follow this study plan. If you for some reason need to make a change in your study plan, it is important that you contact your programme coordinator/director.

Payment regulations
You must pay the tuition fee by the deadlines set by Uppsala University. The fee for coming semesters must be paid one semester at a time, one month before the semester starts. If you fail to pay the tuition fee you will be put on academic suspension. If you participate in exchange programmes via Uppsala University you are liable to pay full tuition fee to Uppsala University for your studies abroad.

Change of payment status
If your status changes (e.g. citizenship), you must submit documentation to Uppsala University that certifies the change. A change in status will not warrant retroactive compensation.

Reimbursement
Your tuition fee will be reimbursed if your studies are cancelled because of denial of visa, or if you are conditionally admitted and do not fulfil the eligibility (e.g. bachelor degree) on the enrolment day. In other situations, if you deem it justified to receive reimbursement, you must apply in writing to the Student Fee Master at the Division of Student Affairs and Academic Registry. Extraordinary reasons (e.g. serious illness) must exist and be supported by written verifications. The decision will be made by the University Director.
